

Call For Papers

Psychology
in Russia

SPECIAL ISSUE PSYCHOLOGY IN LATIN AMERICA

We are delighted to extend an invitation to you for contributing your valuable research papers to a special issue of the journal "Psychology in Russia." This special issue is dedicated to showcasing the scientific production of Psychology in Latin America. Our aim is to emphasize the richness and diversity of theoretical and methodological perspectives that characterize the Psychology in our region, along with the wide array of thematic areas it encompasses.

We highly value empirical studies, whether they are focused on local contexts or offer a comparative analysis of different territories. We appreciate the contribution of both seasoned experts in the field and emerging researchers and strongly encourage young scholars to share their innovative and original perspectives. Please note that all submitted papers will undergo a rigorous peer-review process.

This initiative aspires to serve as a convergence point and an open platform for to the scientific community dedicated to Psychology in Latin America; a space where we can share knowledge and establish meaningful connections.

We sincerely appreciate your interest and look forward to your outstanding presence in this special issue.

Guest editors

Dr. Julio C.
Penagos-Corzo

Dr. Julio C. Penagos-Corzo: Doctor in Language Sciences, with doctoral studies in Psychological Research. Full-time research professor in the Department of Psychology at the Universidad de las Américas Puebla (Mexico). Member of the National System of Researchers of the National Council of Science and Technology and belongs to the Mexican System of Research in Psychology. President of the Interamerican Society of Psychology (2023-2025). He has an extensive academic work, with several papers in peer-reviewed scientific journals, as well as book chapters. His research interests are in Experimental and Comparative Psychology, where the invention (patented) of the observation device "Escape-Exploration-Vitaton Box in Restricted Field" stands out.

Dr. Jorge E.
Torralbas Oslé

Doctor in Psychological Sciences. Professor at the Faculty of Psychology of the University of Havana, Cuba, where he coordinates the research line on Human Development and Education. President of the Cuban Society of Psychology (2022-2026). He has a recognized academic and research work, with a wide production of papers, conferences and papers in peer-reviewed scientific journals. His research interests are in the field of Social Psychology and Educational Psychology, with a special interest in group processes and digital socialization in social media. Currently, he coordinates a project associated with a national program on this topic.

Deadline for submission is May 15, 2024

Instructions for authors:
<http://psychologyinrussia.com/for-authors/>

EBSCO

Web of Science™

PMC PubMed Central®

Scopus

LEARN MORE ABOUT SPECIAL ISSUES OF PSYCHOLOGY IN RUSSIA: STATE OF THE ART

What makes a family work:
current problems of family
psychology and psychotherapy

Guest editors:
Alla Spivakovskaya (Russia)
Rimantas Kočiūnas (Lithuania)

Developmental Research and Practice in Cultural-Historical Psychology

Guest editors:
Yulia Solovieva (Mexico)
Athanasios Koutsoklenis (Greece)

Subjective well-being:
predictors and consequences

Guest editors:
Magdalena Zemojtel-Piotrowska (Poland)
Sofya Nartova-Bochaver (Russia)

Educational psychology from a contemporary perspective

Guest editors:
Dr. Christopher Arnold (UK)
Dr. Elinor Schad (Sweden)

Ethical issues and challenges in psychological practice and research

Guest editors:
Henk Geertsema (The Netherlands)
Dr. Alla Shabolts (Russia)
Dr. Vita Postuvan (Slovenia)

Covid-19:
Psychological challenges

Guest editors:
Buxin Han (China)